Johnson C. Smith

Welcome to Johnson C. Smith University where we're challenging our generation. Established in 1867 as a school of religion, Smith has always produced people who would go and impact their society.

Today, Johnson C. Smith is a thriving liberal arts school saturated with fun, exciting, but most of all challenging people. People who will provoke you to grow spiritually, morally, socially, personally and academically.

Serving as a microcosm of the Black community, the JCSU atmosphere prepares you for the glad times, the happy times and the sad times that life will offer you. So come laugh, cry and smile with us as we partake the excitement of what is known as "Pull Territory."

Biddle Hall

Biddle Memorial Hall was built in 1883. The basement and fourth floor received special emphasis because they were originally used for storage areas. It soon began to house the following: office spaces, classrooms, campus post office, canteen, a book store, a vault for official records and a University student office.

In 1925 alumni students and friends of the university collected $6,025 for a chime clock that could be heard over much of the Queen City.

Chapel

The University Chapel was dedicated during a Commencement service June 4, 1929, through the continued generosity of Mrs. Johnson C. Smith at a cost of $125,000.

The Chapel, as it is commonly referred, is a beautiful mixture of a classic Greek and-Romanesque features with variations of mahogany, oak and stained glass.

Including the balcony, the chapel has a seating capacity of six to seven hundred. Today it serves as a formal setting for university convocations as well as the home of religious activities such as the Student Christian Association, R.W. Johnson Spiritual Choir and Friend's Ensemble, but most of all, Sunday morning worship services.

With the aid of the Carnegie Fund, Carnegie Library was erected on the campus at a cost of $15,000. During the Universities self-study program of 1955, The Carnegie Library was considered inadequate in view of the institutions expanding academic program and increasing enrollment.

Carnegie Library

The James B. Duke Memorial Library was erected in 1967 to conform to the specific standards of a college library. It was completed at a cost of $1,713,000. The building is the focal point of learning on the campus.

The purpose of the library is to provide books and related materials for general reading in all fields of instruction offered by the college and also to provide skilled services in making these materials readily available.

Black is BOLD

Casual looks are also popular this year. "What's in are suede skirts, slacks, dress shirts, leather coats and jackets, furle necks, sweaters, dress shoes, and long and short boots.

"The comfortable look" can be described as "wear what you feel" or "dress how you feel." Oversized jeans (for the young man and woman), sweat suits, tennis shoes (Nike & Reebok), colorful shirts, nicknamed named "Get Busy Shirts", and Bagle boy jeans are the casual order of the day.

Our newest look for the 90's is the "African look." Many young and old men and women are wearing the African colors: Black (representing the people), green (representing the land), and red (representing the blood). The many African selections include shirts, hats, sweatshirts, watches, bangles, necklaces, and a variety of T-shirts.

Black is BEAUTIFUL

The styles of the 90's are described as being: bold, bright, colorful, and exotic. Spicy colors, ethnic touches, and personalized details can give you great styles. Accessories are an important part of the fashions of today.

For the creative woman, a fitted jacket or blazer, a slim skirt, or a body suit accessorized with tights, heels, and jewelry, while the man who is creative can be seen wearing a nice pair of slacks, a dress shirt with a tie, and suspenders, or a sweater and turtleneck shirt. Finally, to make their look complete, a brief case can be added.

The famous Johnson C. Smith University Golden Bull was established with the help of the University students and a local resident.

A man named Mr. Knox lived in South Carolina. He was given a calf by the doctor he lived with there. Mr. Knox raised the calf until it became a bull.

Mr. Knox and the bull moved from South Carolina to Charlotte, North Carolina into a club house on Old Plant Road near JCSU.

The students of Johnson C. Smith University and Mr. Knox became well acquainted and one day some young men of the University asked Mr. Knox if they could use his bull in a football game. Mr. Knox allowed the students to take the bull. They dressed it up for the game. The bull was so exciting to the students. Pictures were taken at the game and placed in the school yearbook, during the 1920s.

Although the exact date of when the bull became the official mascot of the University is unknown, the legend of our mascot—the Golden Bull—is still alive and is yet to live!

Nikki Sings Summertime

Sherman Barno set the melody.

Funny, emotional, provocative and godly. The play, titled "Can You Reach My Friend", held on Wednesday Dec. 5th in Biddle Hall attracted hundreds of students to a standing room only crowd which raved about its timely impact.

There were five acts ranging from a sinner losing his soul because he thought that there would always be a tomorrow, to the struggles of a young Christian who wrestles with worldly temptations only to find himself running back to Jesus.

At the conclusion of the play, several musical selections were rendered by R.W. Choir members along with Friends Ensemble, which topped off the plays effectiveness. Then, after the altar call, thirteen students came to the Lord. Therefore, when the actors now ask the Lord, "can you reach my friend through drama?", the answer will undoubtedly be yes!

"Can You Reach My Friend" was a Can You Reach My Friend production sponsored by the campus ministry which includes The Chaplains office, The Student Christian Association, R.W. Johnson Spiritual Choir and Friends Ensemble. It was directed by Miss Kim Johnson and written by both Mrs. Sandra Matlock and Miss Kim Johnson.

Mary and Martha cry out to Jesus.

Friends are warned that tomorrow is not promised.

The lame man begs for money.

The preacher and guest get happy.

The audience is captured and looks on intently.

Explosion

During my 11 years in school is when some friends and I considered college while at the same time we pondered a career in the military. The Air Force Junior Reserve Officers Training Corps provided us with the necessary momentum, thus we joined the Armed Forces Reserves.

On August 8, 1990, active duty soldiers, along with National Guardsmen and Reservists, were mobilized nationwide and sent to the Gulf. One of the chief reasons this deployment occurred was to protect valuable oil reserves.

Last semester several Smithites, who were Reservists, had to withdraw from school. I feel that this is something that should not have been done. Our young black men and women are in colleges furthering their educational backgrounds so that we can be successful in the years to come.

For the students of JCSU who were deployed, I hope they are hanging tough because they have been sent to carry out their military mission. To them I send this message:

Regardless to any obstacles you may encounter, do not forget the faith in the Lord. If anyone knows the next step or direction of this war, the man upstairs does. As long as you all are keeping the faith and remaining on the Lord's side, there shouldn't be anything to worry about. He knows when it is time for you to come and rejoice with your family and friends. He also knows when it is time for you to rest in peace. Moreover, continue to be strong believers in the Lord, carry out the mission, and performs all of your duties in a military manner.

On behalf of the faculty, staff, and the student body of Johnson C. Smith University, I would like to say that, "We all are praying for you and we all have been and will continue to send our love and deepest regards to you."

MAY GOD BLESS YOU AND MAY GOD KEEP YOU.

Feeding in the Nest

My Expectations of Johnson C. Smith were lofty. I wanted to meet new people from different states and cultures. I wanted to be somewhere that I would be more than just an number. I wanted to be within a family environment, but most of all, I wanted to be in a school that cares for my future as if it were their own.

As these expectations made a home in my thoughts, my body followed and made JCSU my home as well. So far, my every expectation has been conquered by "Bull Fever"... The Golden Bull has stuck his horns in my back and will drive me into a successful life.

William B. Frazier

I chose to attend Johnson C. Smith because of its historical values and because I heard that Smith's political Science courses were very challenging.

My college expectations are for all Smithites to write together and be "family."

My career aspirations are to be an active member with the national branch of the NAACP, and to become a lawyer dealing with the criminal justice system, hoping to one day become a District Attorney.

Angela Phillips

My reasons for choosing Johnson C. Smith are very important to me. First and foremost I chose Smith because it is a historically black college. Secondly, when I visited the campus, I felt like I would be a part of one big family. The relationship between students and faculty also attracted me. Finally, I believed that Smith could help me towards my goal of becoming a civil engineer, while at the same time, expose me to the liberal arts.

I expect my stay to be both challenging and rewarding in all aspects of my life; educationally, socially and spiritually.

Other than becoming a civil engineer, I would like to go back to my home of East Orange, New Jersey and help rebuild it to the great city it once was.

Now Spreading Our Wings

As a graduating Senior of Johnson C. Smith University, I can truly say that the experiences I've acquired are never-ending experiences. I will always cherish the memories of my friends and professors who believed in me and stood by me.

As I leave, I leave knowing that I've attended a fine University that molded me into the person that I am today.

My future expectations are to be all that I can be in the working world and to never dwell on the past but to improve in the present. I encourage all to never quit and to be proud of their school, for it is a school of "EXCELLENCE!"

Lamonica Rorie

My expectations upon entering Johnson C. Smith were uncertain. I entered college after sitting out a year of high school and was afraid that my study skills would hinder me. Well, four years later my fears and uncertainty has departed, as the Smith environment has broadened my ability to work hard and make good decisions concerning life. My positive slogan is, "What you put in to it, is what you will get out of it."

My post graduation goals are to enter the world of business while attending graduate school part-time.

Alisha Chandler

My expectations upon coming to school were first, to obtain a solid education in my area of study, secondly to be dedicated to what ever I do and thirdly, yet most importantly was to graduate with a sense of completeness, determination and confidence, knowing that I will be a contributor to our society.

I believe that all of my expectations have been filled. Smith has groomed me to be a strong, ambitious person who is striving for the best that life has to offer.

Now, my goals after graduation are to work for a major corporation in sales or management and use the knowledge and experience that I've acquired to one day open a business of my own.

Following classes, continue to hold your head high and strive to be the best. Have faith in the Almighty God and he'll see you there. Remember, that determination is the key to success.

School Daze!

Laughing with your friends in a dorm room, talking on the phone to the wee hours of the morning, going to the cafe to get a cheeseburger for lunch, studying arduously for that final exam, getting geared up to go to that J.C.S.U. basketball game to see those Golden Bulls throw down, or hitting that alarm clock at 7:00 a.m. to get to an eight o'clock class are all part of STUDENT LIFE.

Oh, student life encompasses so much for so many. Every student has one. It's impossible not to, especially at J.C.S.U., where there are many organizations to join and functions to attend.

Moving from one dorm to the next, gliding from the library to the education building, or sliding to Weekends Night Club for partying, students are always on the go!

We see ourselves going to Chicken King for a snack, Eastland Mall for shopping, or downtown looking around or looking for a job. It is these activities which help students to unwind and relax from the academic pressures.

The students of J.C.S.U. are a family and a population of their own. Giving each other support, showing spirit, or tutoring each other in academics is what student life is all about; it is sharing a part of oneself with another.

Typing a term paper at four o'clock in the morning . . . talking to a professor in his or her office, student life activities never end. There is always something that needs to be done or to something to do, so —

Let's all Do The Right Thing and continue to enjoy these School Daze!

You've got to take notes in marketing class.

Smith students and faculty member tells some visitors what the school is all about, excellence.

It's for sure. Smith students and faculty love to show off their good old-fashioned hospitality. People locally and from afar come to tour Smith's campus often. They are impressed with the friendly people and the academic program. Smith's growth is continuous and receives national recognition for it. We were featured on the Today Show in February. Hey this is only the beginning of better things to come. Great news like this always reminds us that Smith is truly the place to be.

These ladies display the latest in hat wear.

They got positive feedback from the visitors.

Socializing, on days when it is just a sin to stay indoors, is a must.

They all have a style of their own.

Friendships that last forever. Moments shared like this are ones that are never forgotten. In 20 years these students can look back at these pictures and say, 'We sure had a lot of fun back then.' The days may have passed, but the memories will never fade. Although friends sometimes go their separate ways, these pictures will remain stationary. Pictures are worth a thousand words and friendships are great things to have. So, try holding on to both.

Big On Academics Big On Pride

Faculty And Students Work Diligently Together

The faculty plays a major role in relation to the students' academics. They work hard to keep the students eager to learn and motivated to do their best.

The faculty talk with the students and find out what are some things they can do to make the classroom more interesting. This lets the students know that their opinions and suggestions are important. With students and the faculty working diligently together academics will improve and the students self esteem will be uplifted.

"I've got the Right One Baby!"

Speaking in front of your peers isn't the easiest task for some students but with practice, encouragement, and confidence they can overcome their shyness.

Campus security lets all drivers know that they must have a validated sticker on their car in order to enter onto the campus grounds.

The security staff is an important part of the JCSU campus. They do their best to protect the university from vandals and other unusual activities that may propose a threat to the well being of the university.

Once they enter the campus visitors may need directions. Campus police provide them with the information and send them in the right direction.

ROOMMATES

by Everett Hamilton

A key factor in the success of a student's college career is the relationship held between two roommates. Though bad match-ups can be devastating to a meaningful college tenure, good match-ups not only stimulate a better study environment, they help make the college experience the best four years of our lives.

Think about it . . . after hours of class work and lectures, going to breakfast, lunch and dinner, then to the library, no matter how long our day is, we always have to come back to be with our roommate. Hopefully this reunion is filled with smiles, since we have to remember that part of our college experience is learning how to get along with others.

Mr. Macpherson, the Asst. Housing Director believes that having a good rapport with your roommate helps with future experiences in other relationships. "Learning to get along is a maturing process," said Macpherson.

"I love my roommate because he gives me a ride home during vacations and he helps me with my homework."

Charlton Harris

"I love my roommate because I can wear all his clothes."

Tammi Hawkins

Lisa Wright

"Lisa has been my roommate for three years. We have many memories of rap sessions, fights with others, step practices and debates in this room. Lisa is neat and considerate. I am blessed not only to have had Lisa as a roommate, but as my confidant, my saro and my best friend."

Tammi

"Tammi is one of the sweetest people I know. She always has a smile on her face, and is very easy to get along with. She's my Partner in Crime (pledging line name) best friend and roommate."

My Roommate''

"Al helps me see certain issues, political, racial, musical, and social, in totally different aspects; sometimes."

May, 1991

To the Class of 1991:

Events of the past year both predict and portray dramatic testimony of the vicissitudes of the turbulent and complex world in which you will be expected to provide leadership. In 1990, we held high hopes for a "peace dividend" as we witnessed the democratization of Eastern Europe, the freeing of Nelson Mandela in South Africa and a world devoid of conflict. Today, we are confronted with a war in the Persian Gulf, internal strife in the Soviet Union and a massive national deficit which threatens our ability to provide for the genuine needs of the most disadvantaged of our society!

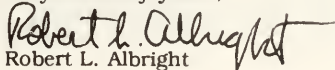

Such is the nature of the world you will inherit, my young friends. Clearly, your generation (and the generations which follow you) will be challenged to address and resolve the problems which threaten peace, prosperity, and social justice in the world of the 21st Century. Therefore in our years together here at Johnson C. Smith University, we hope that we have equipped you with the skills and consciousness to fulfill these awesome responsibilities.

And so, as you take your leave from Johnson C. Smith University and join that proud and elite fraternity of those who hold high the "Gold and Blue," we hope that we have prepared you well to live, function and contribute to a world in transition. Clearly, we have been honored to have had the opportunity to hone, refine and enhance your already considerable skills and talents so that you will be optimally prepared to assume the reins of leadership in a world that desperately needs your talents, your vision and commitment to social justice.

Finally, as you leave Alma Mater to pursue new challenges and opportunities, it is my hope that you will always remember that you are among America's best and brightest - and that you have developed both the confidence and the competence to be all that you want to be!

Again, thank you for the privilege of serving you. With God speed, I am

Very sincerely yours,

Dear Smithites:

Our theme for this year was "Stronger Together." Through God we were able to believe and have faith in building our foundation. Our foundation consisted of a strong academic program, high student involvement on the campus and in the community, and infectious school spirit. Through many prayers we were able to stand high with our blue and gold, and say "Together we stand as a family, divided we parish as a race of people." When I examine my tenure I can safely say we have helped to encouraged one another along as we moved about our busy lives. Finally, we were successful in accomplishing several of our objectives including but not limited to the following: working together, striving for peace, and seeking success and achieving higher goals.

In closing I leave with you this poem of love for your support and love:

As time goes by
we know each other better
we share more things together
we have reached or not reached so many goals together
As time goes by
the bonds holding us together
get stronger and stronger
the foundation of our relationship gets stronger and stronger my feelings of oneness with you all
get stronger and stronger
As time goes by my feeling of loyalty for you all gets stronger and stronger. I am

Sincerely yours,

James T. Garvin, President

Garfield Jackson, a junior found the best way to assure no tardiness for his classes: he leaps to them. He says it also keeps him in high spirits. In that case keep leaping Garfield.

Junior, Darlene Simmons takes a little time out for a picture before she settles down in the library to study some history.

If you need assistance with some research, the people in the library are always willing to help you find what you need. They offer free smiles too. With this system who can lose?

You are as cluttered as my mind often is
 With different ideas, faces, and assignments
 It seems that once I clear you,
 Like my mind you quickly clutter again,
 Yet still I attempt to straighten things out.

You hold sheets of paper, both used and unused,
 Strewn across you in haphazard style.
 There are books upon books, piled congestedly
 on your lap,
 Books being currently used, books that haven't been used in years, and books yet to be used.
 There are textbooks, notebooks, a Bible given to me at Cape May.
 There are also a few magazines that I planned to read but never got the chance
 There are novels, "dime store" and those of notability.
 I have some pens, pencils, and Liquid Paper for mistakes.
 Little notes I've written to myself and notes I've written to others.

You have a few picture frames, big and small,
 There are even some pictures without frames in your grasp,
 Pictures of my grandmother, my sisters,
 My nephew who is definitely my heart,
 There are pictures of friends, male and female
 And that's not all.

There is food that I have stowed for safekeeping
 Some jelly for biscuits, Heinz ketchup for French fries.
 I know exactly where things are when I need them, most of the time.

You have cups and straws, and forks and knives,
 Even some matches for emergencies you see.
 To some you appear to be just a mess,
 But to the keen eye there is some sense of order
 there, like my mind:
 Different ideas, faces, assignments.

If my ancestors were king and queens
 Then why am I not a prince.
 If the land of the river Nile is my home
 Why have I only seen the Mississippi.

If I possess the knowledge
 To build the perfect pyramid
 Why must I push a broom.

If my people created
 Science, Math and the written word
 Why do I remain dumb.

Society says it's my fault
 But I say that it's not.
 I do not blame the white folk
 For they were just a part.

If you really must know why
 I'm not the man I should be
 It's because I have no respect for you
 And even less for me.

Now, we all have seen these little guys running all over campus minding their own business, right. They have, now, officially been declared members of the JCSU family. Sure they are cuddly, cute, and adorable but that is not what got them their membership. But, because they have made this campus their home and added a special touch to the atmosphere that only nature can bring. So the next time you see one of them think of them not as pests but as a gift from nature. Okay?

This little guy is camera shy. But, as we can see he sure takes pride in keeping his tail perked and bushed at all times.

"Excuse me while I eat my dinner. Oh, I am sorry. Where are my manners? Would you like to have a bite?"

I think I'll name him Charlie. Charlie loves to be photographed. He says he will be in pictures one day. What do you think? Does he have the looks?

Protesters of the war in Washington, D.C. decorate the sidewalks, expressing their opinions. They emphasized unity among all peoples and that prayer will bring the solutions of today's problems forth.

War no more. The choice is ours. Was the wrong choice made by going to war? Or, was freedom for all mankind being fulfilled?

The protesters stayed at their chosen spots all day, destined to get their point across. Peace rung loud and clear throughout the city. Do you think anyone heard its call?

A: Improvisation on Hayden's
"Know that love has chosen you
to live his crucial purposes."

They told my father these precious,
Words and sent him to his death.
Placed him on that Holy Cross and Purged him of our sins.
But always . . .
Recognize that God has given you
To die for the world's sins.
He delivered you here and showed
You the world with all it's wickedness.
God said to the world here
Is your Savior, be kind to him.
But you should . . .
Be aware that Glory has selected you
To symbolize this nation's transgressions
Be strong in what you do and tell
All about Jesus. For it is through
You that the world will have a chance

At a new and eternal life.

But always . . .

Know that love has chosen you
To live his crucial purposes.

Thank You Jesus For All You Have Done

When I feel a hurt inside
I look to God to be my guide
He wipes the tears from my face
Then he said, "you are saved by grace"
Sometimes I look at how I sinned
Then the Lord said, "Child where have you been"
he said, "Don't you know you were born in sin
But, don't you remember that blessed day
When you brought your life toward Heaven's way
You said, 'Lord I give myself to thee'
And from then on I set you free
I will continue to wipe your eyes as long as you make Heaven your stride
But, if you start going Astray that's when I'll have to take my hand away
But always remember I'll always Love You in my special way

Sonia Sanchez (activist, poet, mother, and professor) is a national and international lecturer on black culture and literature, women's liberation, peace and racial justice. She is also a sponsor of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom.

She was born Wilsonia Driver on September 9, 1934 in Birmingham, Alabama, but grew up with her father in Harlem.

Sanchez has written 13 books, since Homecoming (1969) which was her first.

In addition to writing 13 books, she has edited two anthologies: We Be Word Sorcerers: 25 Stories by Black Americans and 360 Degrees of Blackness Coming At You.

She pointed out some key factors African-Americans should follow to enhance their well-being in America. A positive self identity, abstinence from drugs, and education were on top of her list.

From her recent book Shake Down Memory, Sanchez read a dramatic poem about drugs and its effects on the brain and the family. She said drugs are killing African-Americans and one only needs common sense to see that.

Sanchez strongly believes African-Americans can pull themselves up out of the rut they are in but they must work together.

"We can save this country," she concluded.

The Harvey Gantt — Jesse Helms race for United States Senate in 1990, boosted a lot of publicity not only in North Carolina, But nationally as well.

The controversy over what each candidate stood for — liberal or conservative — got a lot of people involved who participated for the first time in politics. Some, for example, our own J.C.S.U. students (Ardra O'Neal, Renna Parker and Sonya Jenkins) march with Harvey Gantt in the "Project Vote" program.

All the criticizing, personality bashing, finger pointing advertisements must have had you confused about the positions each candidate stood for. Well, to uncoil your mind here are some little facts.

Gantt and Helms have striking differences on key issues such as life issues, education and defense, and taxes.

Harvey Gantt is liberal and Jesse Helms is conservative. Gantt is for Pro-choice. He does not necessarily condone abortion but supports the right for others to choose for themselves. Helms is for Pro-life. He does not believe in abortion at all.

Gantt asserts that homosexuals should not be outcasts. Helms believes homosexuality is sinful and dirty.

Gantt is an advocate for higher education; Jesse Helms is an advocate for higher defense. Gantt wants to insure the funding of educational needs such as Pell Grants and Guaranteed Student Loans. Helms wants to increase military aid in case of war.

Harvey Gantt says he will raise taxes to decrease the deficit, but Jesse Helms said he will never raise taxes. He supports big businesses; no change in taxes helps to save them money.

Through all the heated commercials and campaigning Jesse Helms came out victorious. Helms has won the U.S. Senate seat in previous years.

Just thought you should know the fact.

COMES TO

Gantt spoke in the University Chapel. He spoke of the importance for everyone to come out and vote and his perspective about today's problems. He mingled with the students after he gave his speech. Thanks Mr. Gantt for coming to J.C.S.U.

*Benjamin Horsey was found dead in the barn,
Laying cold and uncheerful,
On Braak Done's farm.*

*There was no sign of injury, struggle or fight,
The thing that killed him must be what he saw late last night.*

*I saw it also, but it caused me no such pain,
For 'twas not my new bride who with Brook Done
in his bed had lain.*

*A fair and good man Ben Horsey he was
And shock did not kill him, but the betrayal of love.
Poor Ben had poorly chosen to spend the rest of his life, with a woman who previously and still was Brook Dane's lovely wife . . . too.*

THE DRESS

She looks, she laaks and question what she sees — running her hands down the back with an inquisitive caress. She feels the arms knowing that once they are around her she will feel secure.

Gently placing her face on the neck, her cheek glides across the torso; plunging downward she fondles the waist uninhib-itedly; dreaming, hoping, praying that they will soon become synchronized.

With undeniable desire and passion she unpeels her garments effortlessly as if all of the desire within were nonexistent; unclothed and ponting, she stands — still waiting, dreaming, hoping.

With an impatient yearning she reaches out confidently, locking their frames in an unbreakable embrace. She feels the security she had anticipated. It surrounds her and engulfs her completely. It captivates her and fulfills every inch of her being, soul, mind, and body. It is a part of her and she is a part of it — they are one. Joined together indefinitely, only in her incarceration can she be free.

Halloween fun

I bet you didn't know there are goblins, goons, and ghosts lurking about the halls of Smith. Here's a warning to you: lock your doors and windows at night before you go to bed. And, you had better say a prayer because these ungrateful deads can't die twice!

These students do not mind being called ugly or scary looking. But, are they really students?

THE MUSICIAN'S PRAYER

*You've given me the words, LORD . . .
and the music . . . A song of life That's new and unrehearsed: You have given me the joy that makes my heart sing.
Even though at times the tears come first . . .
You've taken all my yesterdays of discord,
A clash of cymbals, meaningless and vain,
Transposing all the noise into a love song that floods my very soul with its refrain . . .
you've taken all the gifts I once thought mine,
Lord, and changed the composition of their worth,
Reclaiming what was yours from the beginning,
Returning them, transfigured by rebirth . . .
You've given me the theme for my existence, and I will sing your glory all my days . . . For now, Lord . . . and Forever . . . be my music and make my life
a symphony of praise . . .*

From the 1955 Montgomery bus boycott to the Greensboro lunch counter sit-in; from the marches in Birmingham to the Selma voter registration campaign . . . Martin Luther King, Jr. was at the center of the most turbulent years in the history of Black America.

While King's courage, determination and philosophy of non-violent protest earned him the 1964 Nobel Peace prize it also, ironically, led to his violent death just four years later.

Hundreds of people, including JCSU students, participated in the Martin Luther King Jr. holiday parade. It began at Wayne's Supermarket on Beatties Ford Road and ended at the Charlotte Convention Center.

On February 10, 1991 our illustrious university was visited by the touring chorus of the Newark Boys Choral School. The school consists of grades six to eight. In addition to the general education curriculum the school requires its students to take three classes, concentrating on different aspects of choral careers. All students start their choral careers in the apprentice chorus and gradually work their way into the touring chorus which tours nation and worldwide. With a selection list that ranged from Yiddish to African spirituals, including a most beautiful rendition of "Amazing Grace," the Newark Boys Chorus not only touched our hearts, but for a moment touched our lives.

SHARE THE DREAM

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. was a man of extraordinary vision. He saw a world in which every man and woman is allowed to reach his or her full potential, no matter what their skin color.

Dr. King knew an education could be a powerful weapon against poverty and injustice.

For many students, a college education will play a key role in helping them achieve their goals. But, unfortunately for some students, getting there is still a struggle.

In the spirit of Dr. King's unique vision, our "Share The Dream" Scholarship Sweepstakes will award $130,000 in college scholarships to 10 deserving students in the name of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Plus, you'll have a chance to win other great prizes by playing the "Share The Dream" trivia game on your local radio station.

So realize your dream of a college education by entering the "Share The Dream" Scholarship Sweepstakes. Because some dreams do come true.

RUBY DEE VISITS JCSU

On February 5, 1991, Johnson C. Smith was visited by an interesting woman. Ruby Dee, nationally acclaimed actress, writer, and poet, entertained a packed Biddle Auditorium. Ms. Dee read selection from her short stories and poems and exhibited an energy that was truly admirable.

Ms. Dee has starred in such plays as "Purlie Victorious" and "A Raisin In The Sun". She also starred in the Broadway show "Checkmates" and "The Glass Menagerie." She co-starred in Spike Lee's highly acclaimed movie "Do The Right Thing" and was named "best actress of the year" by the NAACP and won their 22nd annual "Image Award" for the movie.

In addition, Dee has written three books: My One Good Nerve, The Tower To Heaven and Two Ways to Count To Ten.

Ms. Dee converses with those who came to the reception, after the lecture, held in the Honors College.

Ms. Dee spoke in Biddle Auditorium. "Well you see . . .," was how she began her statement in this picture.

Some of the students were asking, 'Ms. Dee, what's Spike Lee really like.'

COLLEGE WOMEN

(freshman)

She is unskilled but no amateur, Reborn brand new Hey, hot of the press, She is supreme second to none Hey, you know the rest.

(sophomore)

She smiles, simply, saying, she symbolizes style, Sexy, Sexy, she so sexy, steadily stealing starving, stares She's super smooth, shamelessly shapely, strong, successful surely silky, sugar sweet saintly slick, sure, she satisfies slowly and softly

(junior)

Searching and dreaming carrying out her plan, she leads the boys but follows the man, Eyes open or closed she has insight, her main concern is doing it right, Her body is developed but it took some time, Even she will tell you beauty is in the mind.

(senior)

Wisdom and knowledge including skill, proficient with practice she is ready to deal, Not too slow not too fast, Here is a lady with lots of class, When in her presence you are crying, Her smile will tell you to keep on trying, Sweeter than candy but no toy, treat her right, and she will bring you joy, Ladies and gentlemen what more can I say the college WOMEN, doing it her way.

The Computer Sciences room is filled with future programmers

The faculty and administration of Johnson C. Smith believes that the students are better served by being exposed to a broad array of courses and programs which sharpen their intellectual skills and deepen their understanding about the world they live in.

Seven years ago, Smith embarked on an "Era of Excellence" which includes enhancing six major programs of study which range from Humanities to Education, and the Math and Sciences.

With an excellent teacher-to-student ratio, the academic atmosphere at Smith is conducive to personal attention and to the success of the individual students. Also present in the classroom is an opportunity for individual participation which helps prepare students to speak and interact with different groups of people.

Students get involved for a better understanding.

Personal conferences are popular here at Smith.

The intricacies of the human body are explored.

The Library computer room is busy with students typing mid-term papers.

Video equipment delivered by Mr. Goodson is put to use in psychology class.

Lynette decides to study her notes before class.

Charlton Harris along with Dr. Sulek receives a letter from George Bush for being involved in the Time to Read tutoring program.

Dee gives a brief speech during the first Honors College induction.

At Johnson C. Smith, constant student involvement is very important. Students are encouraged to join tutoring programs, formulate group projects and presentations out side of class time, and they are always afforded the opportunity to stop by a professors office to gain clarity on a difficult subject.

Tim, along with his business associates are prepared for their class presentation

1991 H. C. Residence

Reaching out to others

Lasonja, Lowrenzo and another volunteer prepare punch for the men.

Men wait in the food line outside the shelter.

The Johnson C. Smith Honors College has over 120 members with 20 different courses to choose from. It has an excellent core staff and the curriculum is very challenging. This year was the premiere year for the Honors College Center which houses 15 students, has a computer center, a library, a conference room, a guest suite and a kitchen. During the day it serves as a place where classes take place and luncheons are held while at night it turns into a beehive of activity as students use the facility for typing, research and study purposes.

Because a major thrust is community service, the Honor College is dedicated to reaching out to others. Weekly, different H.C. members volunteer their services at the homeless shelter where hundreds of men come for nourishment every day. Other volunteer activities include the Time to Read tutoring program, the Fight Back Drug task force, and various collections for those who are in need, just to name a few.

In June 1976 the Mary Irwin Belk Early Childhood Education Center became an extension to the Education and Business/Economic Department. Its purpose was two fold; (1) it served as a teaching laboratory and (2) a community service project. Its initial opening date was spring 1978 as a non-profit Center. It has a capacity for 29 children ranging from age two to five years old.

TO THE CLASS OF 1991:

Congratulations and best wishes for your continued success in life! After what probably seems like a long, long time, you have finally made your way to graduation. However, you still have work to do.

As the leaders of our country in the twenty-first century, we need for you to share your knowledge and skills with others in order to enhance the quality of life in our society. The philosophy of the advocates of the "Era of Excellence," at JCSU included an awareness of your academic, social, and cognitive needs as you developed your place in this world through this institution. We sponsor the Child Development Center at Johnson C. Smith University because we recognize that the evolution of a successful individual begins at an early age as his/her academic, social and cognitive needs are developed. Therefore, become teachers and leaders wherever you are recognizing that you are a successful individual in having attained a degree and a broader view of the world. Share your experiences and knowledge with others in your communities. Work with the youth around you; participate in activities that allow you to guide others along the path that was successful for you.

You and the youth of our society are the hope for our future. Continue to learn and to share what you learn. I wish you much happiness and success in the remainder of your life.

Sincerely,

High Fashion! High Fashion! The 32nd annual Sepia Fashion Revue boomed into "Bull territory" Monday, October 22nd, 1990 at 7:00pm in Biddle Auditorium. The show featured The Vogue-Esquire Models of Chicago. They flaunted "The Distinctively BOLD 90's Look". Johnson C. Smith University Office of Student activities sponsored the event.

Sunday, October 21, 1990 kicked off this year's cropwalk. Smith students and Charlotteans came out once again to support this great cause. "Hunger Fighter" was the theme implemented on T-shirts and in the minds of every participant. Next year make it your business to join in the effort.

On Monday, October 22, 1990 there was chaos and mayhem in the classrooms. Why? Because this was "Gender Switch" day and oh how much spirit some of our peers had. This was the one day of the year that the men could dress like the women they so love, without feeling strange. It was fun and maybe the next time every student will participate. Tuesday was Profession Day when the students dressed to represent the profession for which they are now studying. On Wednesday it seemed as though we were in the twilight zone! Every where we turned we saw the 70's look, yes it was "Afro-Day"! It was great fun and we got to see the "real" Smithites!

"Are you seeking to maintain that Afro-Glow"? Well, here it is! Smith's Jerry-Curl Afro formulated Juice.

Pep rally time! Come one; Come all it's a blue and gold thing.

She has held offices as Vice-President of the JCSU Marching Band, Concert and Jazz Bands, corresponding secretary of the Gamma Delta Chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority Inc. She is a member of the Psychology Club and Miss Junior Class 1989-90.

It started as a vision and through hard work, determination, and dedication it became truly a night to remember. The Miss Johnson C. Smith University Coronation 1990 was one that we shall not soon forget. All of our campus queens and their handsome escorts devoted many hours of hard work to perfect their debut. On the night of October 25, 1990 we saw many campus queens present themselves to the JCSU family. Miss Johnson C. Smith University and her court did an exemplary job and should be commended for their achievements.

Band take the field.

The Homecoming parade was full of excitement, queens, cars, floats, bands, and that Bull spirit that always seems to invite its self at JCSU events.

The parade was scheduled to begin at 10:00 am. It ended at Memorial Stadium where the game was held.

Smith hosted Winston Salem State University once again for its Homecoming game. They battled diligently throughout the course of the game. WSSU was victorious in the end.

Great Catch!

Coach Smalls advises his team.

Nicole and Lisa gives a friendly wave.

Little Miss JCSU proudly smiles at the spectators.

How sweet it is!

THE STEPSHOW

Girls just want to have fun!

AKAs. Taking it all in stride.

KKPsi doing what they do best.

Nupes. Guilty for all the right things.

Quess don't die.

GOSPEL FESTIVAL

Inspirational sounds echoed on the University Plaza Sunday, October 28, 1990. No, it may not have been Bebe and Cece Winans nor The Mighty Clouds of Joy but nonetheless beautiful music was made. Smithites got together and displayed their talents and love for good old gospel music.

THE GAME

A collaboration of the JCSU Marching Band and the high school bands, that participated in the Homecoming parade, proudly played the Star Spangled Banner together. High school bands came from as far as Washington, D.C. to be a part of Homecoming 90.

Coach Horace Smalls and the team's coaching staff instructs the players on what to do and the best strategy to use. Others watch with hope that the play will be a success.

Wow! What Athletic ability cheerleader DeMarius Sullivan has. The electric moves and vivacious chants of the JCSU cheerleaders kept the crowd pumped up.

The Smith team, led by quarterback Maurice Flowers, attentively maneuvers the play given to them. Flowers releases a spiral pass and anticipates a reception.

Instrumentalists play their hearts out for the school, the team, and the fans they love so much. The sun was beaming on Homecoming day, but it only seemed to give these players more energy.

THE REAL SPIRIT MAKERS

Drum major Monte Sanders directs the band to play LOUD-ER. Party, JCSU Rock, and Talking Out Of The Side Of Your Neck are three songs that are very popular with the students and are most requested by the fans.

The day was all action, mostly beneficial to the Winston-Salem team. But, Smith continued to persevere.

Tackles. Hits. Pushes. Shoves. Grunts. The Smith team exuded its heart and soul into the game. But, the Winston-Salem club was just too hot to handle.

Winston Salem's marching band performed at half-time. They gave the crowd reason to applaud them. Hey, they were good. But, let's face it. We all know who is the best band in the CIAA Conference.

Coach Sharp gives wide receiver Joe Weinberg a few words of encouragement.

Eyes had not seen. Ears had not heard the spectacle that awaited the audience by the JCSU Marching Golden Bulls. The band had practiced diligently the week prior to Homecoming. As always they did not disappoint the crowd.

Joe has been playing football for Smith since his freshman year.

At the end of the game the players were exhausted. It was definitely a long day for them. Sadly, they had been defeated on Homecoming day with thousands of people present. Homecoming is like X-mas, it comes every year. Maybe next year we will be the victorious ones.

CENTER OF ATTENTION

Alpha Kappa Alpha is the oldest Greek letter organization established in America by Black college women. It is a rather significant and inspiring reflection of a minority group in a changing culture. Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority Incorporated was founded in 1908 at Howard University located in Washington, D.C. In its earliest years, Alpha Kappa Alpha became a symbol of the aspiration of able young women to develop their full potentials in an atmosphere of friendship and mutually supportive stimulation to excellence.

1911

Early in this century, black students were actively dissuaded from attending any college or university. Formidable obstacles were erected to prevent the few who enrolled from assimilating into co-curricular campus life. This social ostracism characterized Indiana University on January 5, 1911 and caused Elder Walson Diggs and Byron K. Armstrong, joined by eight other men of vision to form Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity, Incorporated. The founders sought a formula that would immediately raise the sights of black collegians and stimulate them to accomplishments higher than they might have imagined. Fashioning "achievement" as its purpose, Kappa Alpha Psi began uniting college men of culture, patriotism, and honor in a bond of fraternity. The brothers of the Alpha Epsilon chapter strive to maintain the ideals and the objectives of their noble fraternity.

On November 17, 1911, four great men came together to form a legacy. Hence, Omega Psi Phi Fraternity, Incorporated, the first nationally renowned fraternity founded on a black college campus, was erected under the cardinal principles of Manhood, Scholarship, Perseverance, and Uplift. Out of Mother Omega sprang the Legacy and the Dynasty of RHO chapter which is prestigious not only for being the 17th chapter to be founded within the fraternity, but also to be the first fully established Greek letter fraternity of national standing on the campus of Johnson C. Smith University.

We, the Men of the Rising Sun, the brothers of Alpha Phi Omega National Fraternity, Incorporated, Delta Phi Chapter, are total reflections of leadership, friendship, and service to humanity. Alpha Phi Omega was founded in 1925 at Lafayette College in Easton, Pennsylvania. Alpha Phi Omega is one of the world's largest fraternities.

We would like to stress the fact that the size of a chapter, or its court, is irrelevant because one brother who is strong in mind and heart is much stronger than thirty individuals without identities. We would also like to say that the fraternity does not make the man, the man makes the fraternity. Peace, love, and Unity, from the Men of the Rising Sun.

There are presently 60 undergraduate chapters of Iota Phi Theta across the country. Beta Theta Chapter was founded on Johnson C. Smith's campus June 25, 1988 after a year and a half of hard work and determination. The majority of the chapters are in the Northwest and it is becoming more popular in the South every day. Beta Theta was founded with the intent to uphold our fraternity's purpose: To establish and maintain a social organization of similarly interested persons to stimulate education for effective citizenship.

- Mary McKoy made All-CIAA
- Shani Baraka made the All-CIAA rookie team
- Teresa Bull, the teams most improved player, gaining shooting range and confidence throughout the year
- Mary McKoy and Shani Baraka ranked high in the CIAA's three point averages
- Mattyna Stephens and Tonya Jefferson showed excellent defensive skills by blocking shots and pulling down rebound after rebound
- Ranking sixth in the CIAA Southern Conference

Highlights by Chris Melvin

- Mark Sherrill and Columbus Parker both made the ALL-CIAA first team. Sherrill was also selected to the CIAA's tournament team.
- The team ranked as low as 13 in NCAA Division II Basketball and number two among the black colleges.
- Most improved was Joel Jordan who showed off a brilliant year in scoring, rebounding and an inside game, posing as an added threat to opponents
- Gerald Garvin, the only senior, thrilled the crowd with powerful dunks along with Kevin Reid
- Timothy Mitchell added depth to the team with great shooting ability
- Proved themselves to be a NCAA Division II power-house by gaining a bid to the tournament and winning the consolation game against Morehouse

(Games to remember)

- St. Augustine College will never forget the bulls running them out of Brayboy with a 100pt score board buster, thus gaining the number one seed in the CIAA Conference

1991 JSCU FOOTBALL TEAM

by Chris Melvin

In the beginning of the season the Golden Bulls were picked to go all the way to the championship, but as the season progressed things started to change. The team had everything except experience together.

Although the team consisted of pre-season All-American quarterback, Maurice Flowers and defensive back, Willie Cole, things never got going for the Golden Bulls.

The entire offense line, except for one player, were freshmen. This was their first experience playing at the collegiate level.

Another factor for their losing season were the injuries to many of the teams key players such as All-CIAA wide receiver Joe Weinburg, who had a knee injury. In his prime, Weinburg was such a threat that he was double and sometimes triple teamed by defenders.

Though the team had its shortcomings, a number of the Bulls led the league in various categories. Sophomore line backer-Craig Jamison led in tackles, Willie Cole led in interceptions and Ron Meadows and Greg Clifton led in kickoff/punt return yardage.

For next season, the Golden bulls will have a new Head Coach and expect to avenge this years performance.

1991 Track Team

Rising To the Top

The 1991 Track team is in a rebuilding state, making strides to once again dominating the area of track and field. The team is having a very successful year placing in several of the meets they've entered.

There are two seniors, while the rest of the team will be returning excited about the season to come. They also look forward to more support too from the JCSU family.

Olympic Hopeful
David Buggs

- All CIAA Conference as a freshman
- Rookie of the Year 1990-1991
- Qualified for Division II Championship in South Dakota
- Holds school record with a 6.1 in the 55yd. dash
- Invited to Olympic try-outs for 1992

1991 Cheerleading Squad

The 1990-91 cheering season was definitely one of success. The squad did much more traveling than in years past and were able to complete the season with nine official members.

Their style of cheering this year has captured much attention ever and are known throughout the CIAA as being the best dressed cheerleaders.

Their goals for next semester are to travel even more, to be named the best performing cheerleaders and to increase fan support.

My premier year as editor of the yearbook served to be a mountains challenge indeed. I can say unequivocally that this has been the single most trying endeavor that I've ever embarked upon during my matriculation here at Smith. Therefore, without remorse, I can say that I've made many mistakes, yet what I have learned from them will forever serve as directions for the future cross that I will come to in life.

Continuing, much to my chagrin, my only faithful photographer, Miss Audra Balckmon, did not return second semester which left me alone to face such a Goliath task as to photograph all campus events. But nonetheless, my mentality was that "I can do all things through Christ, who gives me strength" (Phil 4:13).

It was that mentality, coupled with dedicated and concerned students which helped complete this 1990-91 yearbook edition. A Thousand thanks is due to all, but especially to Sonya Jenkins, co-editor who really did much of the work.

So, on behalf of the entire yearbook staff, we would like to say, if anyone is left out or if you're not happy with the results, please forgive us for we worked hard and our efforts were sincere. But if you like it, no fervent praise is necessary, just a soft smile of your approval will suffice.

Love Unfeigned,

Everett Hamilton

JCSU 1990-91 Yearbook

P. S. Since this is the final year of my enjoyable stay at J. C. Smith, I would like to leave this poem, dedicated to my girl friend.

My Girl Friend

Beautiful, beautiful, she's got it all,
such beauty that I overlook the flaws.

Though she's very demanding and I hardly get to rest,
more and more I love her, nevertheless.

How I met her was purely by chance,
what was puppy love is now a growing romance.

The years have gone by and surely they've went fast, but I've always met her needs first and put all mine last.

She sometimes makes me jealous because she has so many friends, and though we're not related, I feel as if we're kin.

Reminiscing and laughing at the fun we've shared together, my years with her have been my best years ever.

She's been so good to me and has shown me many things, and just like a good woman she thought me to spread my wings.

So no matter what I do she'll always be in my heart, though we have challenged one another, soon we must part.

What I'll do without her I'm not sure I know,
and though we must part, I don't want to go.

Because our life together is gold, but separate seems blue, but I will always love her, Dear Ole J. C. S. U. .

To: JCSU Students, Faculty & Staff

I am delighted to be associated with the JCSU yearbook staff for a second year. As advisor to the yearbook I am privileged to see the growth of the students who do most of the planning i.e., layout, design, photography, and most of all, the "leg work".

I should also like to thank President Albright for his continued support to the yearbook staff. Dr. Precious Madrey has always been available to myself and the staff when we needed her, hence, a very special thanks goes to the office of Vice President of Student Affairs.

Finally, a very special "thank you" is in order for our 1990-1991 co-editors Everett Hamilton and Sonia Jenkins....they have done a super job for which I am grateful. To the graduating seniors, I wish you God Speed and every success.

Sincerely,

Charles D. Rogers
